Pre-Reading Questions

1. Were you born with a talent? If yes, what is it? If no, which talent do you wish you were born with?
2. Does a specific talent get passed down in your family?
3. How do you encourage your friends or family members to live their dreams?

Reading

What were you born to do? Is this your choice to make or was this decision made for you? Some people seem to be born with a gift. Mothers claim that their daughters were born with the gift of gab or their sons were destined to fill their father's shoes. Many athletes are trained at such a young age that it seems their parents are responsible for their success. Child celebrities often resent their parents because of this. Some talented people prefer to keep their work and dreams separate.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.
