

Skill Builders: Writing – Narrative Writing 2

Personal Narrative Writing

Narrative writing is writing that tells a story, whether true or fictional.

Personal narratives are often one of the first types of writing that you do. You write about yourself and experiences that you have encountered, read, or heard about. You can become much more engaged when you write about yourself in personal narratives because you are the expert on the topic of your life.

You can see the whole lesson from your teacher, please ask them to send it to you before the class.
