

fear [fiə]
scare [skeə]
scary ['skeəri]
coffin ['kɒfɪn]

Please note that we normally ask questions with the verb 'be afraid' rather than 'fear'.

What can people have a fear of?

People can have a fear of flying / losing a job / certain animals.

Which do you think the average person fears more: death or the unknown?

I think the average person fears the unknown more than death.

Do schoolchildren sometimes fear of telling their parents the truth about school marks?

Yes, schoolchildren sometimes fear of telling their parents the truth about school marks.

Why do some people fear dogs?

Some people fear dogs perhaps because they've been scared seriously by one.

Do you scare easily?

Yes, I scare easily.

Would it be scary if you woke up and found out you were lying in a coffin?

Yes, it would be scary if I wake up and found out I was lying in a coffin.

invent [ɪn'vent]
invention [ɪn'venʃn]
inventor [ɪn'ventə]
light bulb [laɪt bʌlb]

Who invented the toothbrush?

The Chinese invented the toothbrush.

Who was the inventor of the light bulb?

T.A. Edison was the inventor of the light bulb.

Why's the Internet a useful invention?

The Internet is a useful invention because it helps us find necessary information quickly.

