

Role Plays Set 1

Doctor. You are a doctor. Your patient is very unhealthy due to excessive drinking and smoking (cigarettes). He/she also eats unhealthy food and does not exercise enough. Convince him/her to change the way he/she is living, or he/she might die.

Patient. You are at the doctor's office. You have just had a health checkup.

Manager. You are a manager of a well-known company. And tomorrow is the deadline of a very important project you've been working on for weeks. You need to complete all the reports but you won't be able to finish everything by yourself. You see one of your employees, who happens to be your friend. Although he wasn't on the team for this project, ask him to help you. He's your only hope.

Employee. Although you are working for a well-known company, your salary isn't high enough. You usually work long hours, but not today – your mother is celebrating her birthday. And you promised to come to her party. You're running late. At the exit you see your friend, who happens to be the manager. He approaches you and says...
