Reading

Saying "I do" is a big thing. It is also an expensive thing. Celebrities spend more than a million dollars on their big day. These marriages rarely last forever. Everyday people also get carried away. Many couples can't afford their dream wedding. They have student loans or credit card debt. This doesn't stop them from getting hitched. Weddings these days are funded by friends and families. Members of the wedding party host events like greenback showers or Jack and Jill parties.
